About Society of Indian Law Firms (SILF):

The Society of Indian Law Firms (SILF) is India's leading collective body of full-service law firms.

For over two decades, SILF has played a pivotal role in strengthening India's legal and regulatory ecosystem by fostering dialogue, advancing professional standards and contributing to meaningful legal and policy reforms.

Today, SILF represents a strong and diverse network of India's premier law firms, working at the intersection of law, policy, business and society to champion excellence, ethics and access to justice.

TWO DECADES OF LEADERSHIP

Over 20 years of shaping dialogue, standards and reform in India's legal and regulatory landscape.

A NETWORK OF PREMIER FIRMS

Representing India's leading full-service law firms with deep expertise across practice areas and sectors.

A BRIDGE TO ASIA AND THE WORLD

Facilitating cross-border dialogue and collaboration for a more connected legal ecosystem.

COMMITMENT TO JUSTICE & ETHICS

Championing professional excellence, ethical practice and greater access to justice.

BUILDING THE FUTURE TOGETHER

Creating platforms that bring together leaders, innovators and institutions to shape the future of law.

The Vision:

For decades, the world's most influential legal conversations were shaped elsewhere. The frameworks, standards and ideas that guided global legal systems often emerged from outside Asia.

Yet Asia today is home to the world's fastest-growing economies, largest democracies and some of its most complex legal ecosystems. Despite carrying that weight, the region has largely adapted to conversations created beyond its borders.

AURELIS 2026 seeks to shift that narrative.

Led by Society of Indian Law Firms (SILF), an institution shaped by over 25 years of experience within one of the world's most complex legal environments, INDIA.

India has spent decades solving challenges many legal systems are only beginning to confront: scale, access, linguistic diversity, digital transformation and delivering justice for over a billion people.

Today, that experience becomes a blueprint for the region.

The Purpose:

AURELIS 2026 is designed to spark a new legal conversation for Asia, one shaped by the region itself.

The purpose is not simply to bring legal leaders together, but to rethink what modern legal systems should look like in the most densely populated and rapidly evolving part of the world.

The goal is to create a platform where ideas, collaboration and shared regional experience can help build legal systems that are more adaptive, more connected and better prepared for the future.

What India learned while building law at an impossible scale may become Asia's greatest legal advantage.

Why AURELIS, Why Now?

The Only Institution That Could Convene This Conversation.

Across Asia and emerging economies, legal systems are confronting similar questions. For over 25 years, SILF has stood at the centre of India's legal evolution, working alongside leading law firms, institutions, policymakers and practitioners shaping the country's most consequential legal matters.

AURELIS introduces a new kind of regional partnership: legal solidarity. Because the future of Asia will not be defined only by how commerce moves, but by whether justice can move with it.

Access to Justice

How do we expand access to justice for all?

Responsible Technology

How do we embrace technology without losing public trust?

Launch of The Asian Accord 2026

The Asian Accord emerges from SILF's legacy. Conceived as a defining document for all participants, it sets out the principles, convictions and responsibilities that AURELIS 2026 stands for. It recognises the responsibility of legal institutions in a rapidly changing world to foster innovation and ensure that the future of law is secure.

More than a document. A shared vision for the future of law in Asia which focuses on:
